Red Level Networks Named Member of Ingram Micro's Prestigious VentureTech Network

World's Largest Technology Distributor Selects Red Level Networks to Join Elite Group of IT Solution Providers

Novi, Mich., Jan., 9, 2012 — Red Level Networks, a local technology solution provider, has been selected to join Ingram Micro's VentureTech Network™. Ingram Micro is the world's largest technology distributor. The community is an exclusive national network of technology service providers who specialize in addressing the technology business needs of both small to midsize businesses (SMBs), as well as midmarket organizations in the U.S. and Canada.

“As a member of the VentureTech Network, we are able to quickly expand our technical expertise and customer service offerings by partnering with other network members and IT vendors who complement our existing services and solutions,” said David King, president of Red Level Networks. “The resources, knowledge sharing and exclusive benefits offered as part of the VentureTech Network provide us with a competitive edge and enable us to better service our customers and differentiate our value in the marketplace.”

Ingram Micro's VentureTech Network community represents many of the industry's top-performing technology solution providers. Recognized as an elite group, members of the VentureTech Network have achieved a high level of expertise in deploying technology solutions and services in their local markets. In addition, VTN members receive special support from major technology vendors through Ingram Micro.

“Ingram Micro is proud to welcome Red Level Networks as a new member of the VentureTech Network,” said John Fago, senior director of channel marketing, Ingram Micro North America. “The VentureTech Network maintains a reputation of excellence by providing exceptional IT service and support to SMBs and midmarket organizations throughout North America.”

Members of the VentureTech Network enhance their businesses by collaborating, sharing resources and delivering exceptional IT service capabilities and support to businesses throughout North America.

As a VentureTech Network member, Red Level Networks receives best-in-class technical and sales support, exclusive information and business development resources, valuable credit and leasing programs, as well as access to the world's largest portfolio of customized technology solutions and services designed to benefit their customers.
